COUNT WITTE MAY COERCE SUBJECTS

Drastic Measures Will Be Used if Necessary.

More Talk of Witte Resigning As He Is Not Very Sanguine, It Seems.

LATE DETAILS OF MUTINY

London, Dec. 12.—The correspondent of the Telegraph at St. Petersburg, in a dispatch dated December 10 sends an interview with Count Witte, in which the premier indicates that Russia is confronted with the alternative of a revolution or violent coercion. Though the count has not abandoned hope, he is not sanguine and if forcible representation should become necessary he will, according to the correspondent, resign his task to other hands.

Witte reviewed the conditions from his return from Portsmouth to the present time. Speaking of the rioting and bloodshed throughout the empire Witte said such a result of the emperor's manifesto was utterly unexpected. The people instead of uniting to preserve order quarreled among themselves, systematically annihilated their own means of livelihood and not only brought ruin to themselves but to the nation. The people who acted in their own interests were the revolutionists. They knew what they wanted and set about attaining it.

In conclusion Witte said: "Unless all elements of society abandon their own differences of opinion and join hands to assist the government in checking anarchy and in carrying out the emperor's manifesto, the situation may be regarded as truly disquieting and serious."

Great Loss of Life.

London, Dec. 12.—The Telegraph prints a continuation of the dispatch from Moji, Japan, giving in circumstantial detail accounts by refugees of the alleged sackings and burning of Harbin, Manchuria, by mutinous Russians, of desperate fighting between the mutineers and loyal troops and of the massacre of many innocent Russian and Chinese residents.
It says General Madarloff, with cavalry, adopted extremely drastic and inhuman methods to suppress "the mutiny, because he feared the consequence that might result from a spread of the mutiny to the whole army. In order to compel the mutineers to quit their hiding places, the general sent men to set fire to the barracks and public buildings.

The blaze spread to all parts of the city, and the mutineers, in trying to escape were slaughtered to the number of three hundred by cavalry.

Later the loyal portion of the troops was called out but in the confusion and disorder the troops fired on each other, it being impossible to distinguish the mutineers from the loyal soldiers. Then the mutineers dragged out several machine guns and poured a heavy fire into the cavalry. There was great loss of life.

NO MEETINGS

Being Held by Republicans—Caucus Held On November 24th.

Statements about the republican housemen and informers holding secret meetings, and that a caucus was to be held Friday, are more "smoke-ups." The republicans held their caucus on November 24th and decided on this various persons to fill offices for which elections are to be held this month hence the matter is already settled, and has been for some time.

Deputy U. S. Marshal G. W. Saunders Will Be Re-Appointed for This District

It is given out from a reliable source that U. S. Deputy Marshal George W. Saunders, of Mayfield, who has been deputy marshal in this district since 1901, except for a short time he missed when he resigned on account of ill health, will be retained as deputy for this district under the new marshal, Mr. G. W. Long, of Leitchfield.

Major Saunders is 56 years of age, but one of the most active men of his age in the state. He carries with him 13 scars from serious wounds received in the civil war and is a prominent G. A. R. man, holding several high offices in the G. A. R.

TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE.

Crew of Doomed Ship Had Abandoned All Hope.

New Bedford, Mass., Dec. 12.— Capt. Jorgenson, of relief lightship
No. 58, the crew of which was rescued by the Azalea, related a terrible experience. The crew of the sinking ship, while waiting for rescue had given up all hope when the Azalea came alongside, with great difficulty taking the men off. It was only ten minutes before the lightship sank.

FACE JURY AT LAST.

Packers Before Federal Court For Alleged Conspiracy.

Chicago, Dec. 12.—For the first time in the four years they have been under investigation by the government the packers indicted on charges of conspiracy to raise the price of meat, today faced a jury. A venue of fifty men appeared this morning in federal court. From this venue twelve men will be chosen to hear the preliminary issue.

ANNUAL ATTEMPT TO ABOLISH PORT

It is Claimed it Would Be Hardship to River Men

Would Send Boats to Evansville and Cairo to Be Enrolled, It Is Said.

PADUCAH A "PORT" 40 YEARS

The abolition of the custom collection port here which Washington dispatches state is recommended by Secretary Shaw, will mean that the fifty odd steamboats which register Paducah as home port, pay a license here and are enrolled here, will have to go either to Cairo or to Evansville to enroll. This will be of great inconvenience to the steamboat men and it is not thought that the river men will "stand for it" if there is any way to get around it.

Capt. J. R. Puryear, collector of customs here, stated this afternoon:
"The port has been maintained here for the past 40 years and for the past 20 years I believe annual attempts have been made to have it abolished, but the steamboat men rose up in arms and had the congressman from this district take steps to prevent it. The office pays the collector a salary of $350 and besides this there are small fees from the government for measuring boats, etc. The collector really makes no collections and the government stands the expense. The annual expense is never under $350, the salary for the collector, and in general is about $400."

"If the steamboat men learn in time of the attempt to abolish this as a port for collection of customs, I feel sure they will take some action."

Congressman Ollie James is in the city and it is thought the river men will call on him and urge that he take necessary action to prevent the move. This has been done in former cases when an effort to abolish the port was made.

Another Large Crowd Out.

Another large crowd was present last evening at the First Baptist church to hear Evangelist Cates of Louisville. He preached a forcible sermon on "Without Shedding of Blood." There were 13 additions to the church and much interest was manifested otherwise.

There will be services again tonight at the usual hour and everybody is welcome.

LAWLESSNESS IN PARTS OF STATE

Tobacco Factory Blown Up Near Elkton.

Bloodshed Is Feared in Breathitt County, Where Another Feud Is Threatened.

TRAIN HELD UP BY MARAUDERS.

Elkton, Ky., Dec. 12.—This morning about 1:30 o'clock the tobacco factory belonging to Mrs. M. B. Henry was blown to pieces by dynamite.
The factory was located near the railroad tracks and was used by local representatives of the American Snuff company.

The force from the explosion caused some damage to houses close by,
and also to passenger coaches at the depot.

The insurance had been dropped by the insurance company because of the feeling of members of the dark tobacco association against the tobaco trust in this neighborhood.

A representative of the tobacco company at Elkton was ordered not to receive any more tobacco from the "Trust" but paid no attention to the orders.

Last night as the Elkton and Guthrie train, No. 86, was making a return trip from Guthrie the train was flagged at Bradshaw's a small station two miles south of here. When the train was stopped, the engineer, was covered with revolvers and it was found that about 150 or 200 masked men were there.

About forty went through the coaches with drawn revolvers. The leader told the passengers not to get excited as they were only looking for tobacco buyers. Evidently the persons they were looking for were not on the train, as they did not take anybody from the cars. After they had searched the coaches good, the men withdrew and ordered the engineer to proceed.

Bloodshed Feared in Breathitt.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 12.—A special from Jackson, Ky., says:

A warrant was issued this morning by Judge Hargis for Jake Noble, Jerry Noble and John Davidson as the result of the shooting of Deputy Grant Holliday and placed in the hands of the sheriff. It is reported that the Nobles left town last night in company with a body of armed men and that they are now on Lost creek, ten miles from Jackson.

There is considerable excitement, and it is feared more trouble will arise.

It is reported that Jake Noble says that he will not submit to arrest for trial before Judge Hargis, nor or to be placed in the county jail.

Sheriff Callahan fears that Noble and his friends are barricaded on Lost creek and that they will resist arrest.

USED A KEY

To Enter Trueheart Building and Steal Overcoat.

A burglar entered the Trueheart building, on Broadway, near Sixth, Sunday night and went through two office rooms. The only article missing is an overcoat.

The offices of Dr. J. G. Brooks and Dr. Will V. Owen, the latter a dentist, were gone into by the use of a key. Dr. Brooks kept his key hanging outside in the hall so the janitor could get it and clean up every morning before he got down. The janitor missed the key yesterday morning and trying the door found it unlocked. The door to the iron safe was standing open and papers and books were scattered all over the floor.

He had no money in the safe and uses it only for his books and other papers to preserve them from fire.
Dr. Owen was duck hunting Sunday and on returning to the office Monday morning missed his fine $40 tailor-made overcoat.

He believes that his office was entered with Dr. Brooks' key as it was locked Monday morning and the transom had not been moved.

The second floor of the building has office rooms and the lower floor store rooms. No other rooms in the building were entered.

No Action For Ten Days.

Washington, Dec. 12.—Secretary of the treasury Shaw said today that he did not contemplate taking action toward further relief of the money market within ten days.

IS WASP LOST?

Left Saturday to Aid Ship in Distress and Not Heard From.

Newport, R. I., Dec. 12.—At ten o'clock nothing had been heard of the gunboat Wasp, which started out Saturday night to render assistance to another craft in distress. The Wasp was converted from the yacht Columbia, bought by the government at the outbreak of the Spanish-American war, and carries eighty men.

$1,000,000 CAPITAL

Is the Amount Desired For Co-operative Miners Company.

Denver, Colo., Dec. 12.—A million dollars capital will be asked from members of the Western Federal miners to launch a co-operative mining scheme. Each of the hundred thousand members will be asked to contribute ten dollars for the company, which is a mine for precious metals only.

NOT SEVERE

IS THE VERDICT OF THE MERI-WEATHER COURT MARTIAL.

Must Be Publicly Reprimanded and Kept in Academy Limits a Year.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—The sentence of the court martial on Mid-shipman Meriweather, charged with killing Midshipman Branch at the naval academy, is that Meriweather be publicly reprimanded by the secretary of the navy, and be confined strictly within the limit of the naval academy for a year.

The secretary is notified that the latter part of the sentence will permit Meriweather to go on the annual practice cruise otherwise he will not be allowed outside the academy ground.

HIGH AND DRY

AN EXCURSION STEAMER IS BLOWN NEAR EVANSVILLE.

The Louisiana Rests in Corn Field—Will Take 32 Feet to Float
Her.

Evansville, Ind., Dec. 12.—The excursion steamer Louisiana, that was anchored a mile above this city, was caught in a severe wind storm and blown into a corn field, and is now high and dry. It is feared the boat will be badly damaged, as she lies in a bad condition. The boat cannot be floated until the river rises to a stage of 32 feet, and this may not come before spring.

The Louisiana is owned by Capt.
William Morgan of Vicksburg, Miss., where she is enrolled. She came here last spring and ran in the local excursion trade during the summer.
She is valued at about $20,000.

PASSENGERS SHAKEN

But No Damage of Consequence as Result of Street Car Accident.

Last night there was a head-on collision between two Broadway cars. The cause of the accident has not been determined but is being investigated.

Cars Nos. 51, 103 were on Broadway going in opposite directions.
Near 16th street the cars came together. The outgoing car stopped, but the incoming one did not, for some reason. The damage was slight and no one was injured. Several passengers were shaken up and scared for a short time.

CLEAN CARS

Are Being Noticed by the General Public.

One improvement noticeable in the street car service is the cleanliness of the cars. On each car a broom has been installed and the cars are swept continuously and kept as clean as possible. There is a great deal of dust on the streets and cars are hard to keep free from dust. The company realizing the inconvenience to passengers who were forced to sit themselves in dusty seats above dirty floors, provided the brooms.

Count your mercies and you discount your miseries.

RYAN TELLS ABOUT HARRIMAN'S THREAT

Harriman Wanted to Have Half Control of Equitable.

All His Overtures Were Rejected—Provident Savings Life Is Delived Into.

CONSIDERABLE EVIDENCE IS IN

New York, Dec. 12.—Thos. F.
Ryan, of the Equitable Life, who last week on the witness stand declined to give the nature of conversations with E. H. Harriman, at the time of the Equitable purchase by Ryan, appeared before the investigation committee today and gave the desired information.

He said Harriman demanded an equal voice in the management. He declined to accede to the demand for a half interest in the stock and Harriman objected to the plan for trustees but finally consented if allowed to name two, making the number five.

"He told me I would not be able to carry out my plans," said Ryan as he would use his whole political influence against it. My understanding was that he meant legislative action. I determined to carry out my plans and did not want any partner.
I refused all of Harriman's demands."

Ryan when on the witness stand last Friday testified that on the day he got possession of the Equitable stock, Harriman asked him for a share of the stock. What Harriman said to him to induce him to part with that stock Ryan refused to tell the committee.

The committee was engaged part of the time yesterday in inquiring into the affairs of the Provident Savings Life Assurance society of New York. It was brought out by questioning Edward W. Scott, resident of the company, that when Frank F.
Hadley of New Bedford, Mass., secured control of the company in -896 he borrowed $162,000 from the company on his collateral notes to pay up for the stock of the insurance company. Scott testified that Hadley never repaid those loans and that the insurance company realized only $30,000 on the sale of the collateral.
The companies in which Hadley was interested failed and shortly afterward he died.

"It cost the insurance company just $132,000 for Hadley to get control of it," said Hughes. Besides the $162,000 Hadley had borrowed $200, 000 to be paid for the assurance company's stock and had put up that stock at auction after Hadley's death and borrowed the money to do it from the New York Security and Trust Co. John A. McCall, president of the New York Life, Scott said "stood back" of him in negotiation of the loan.

Peabody's Selection Causes Talk.

New York, Dec. 12.—The board of trustees of the Mutual Life Insurance Co. will meet tomorrow and elect passed under control of the Morgan-Rockefeller combine.

morrow and in the evening will expanied by lecture at Tenth street Christian church, and will doubtless be greeted by an overflowing house.

LOUISVILLE CONCERN.

Makes Assignment With $87,000 Liabilities—Assets $2.87.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 12.—With liabilities amounting to $87,000 and with only $2.87 in the treasury, E.
D. Martin and the board of directors of the People's Life and Accident Insurance company, with headquarters in this city yesterday filed a deed of assignment and asked for the appointment of a receiver to reinsure the company's risks and wind up the company's affairs. The outstanding risks are only $60,000.

PANIC IN LABORATORY.

Explosion Causes Great Fright—3 Girls Badly Burned.

Philadelphia, Dec. 12.—An explosion of peroxide in a laboratory today caused a panic among two hundred girls, and three were badly burned by the explosion. Eight were injured in the mad rush for the stairways, and many were prevented from jumping from the windows, with great difficulty.

EVIDENCE BEGINS IN THE LOVING CASE

The Prosecution Finished Direct Testimony Today.

The Defendant Was On the Stand At Press Time—Testimony Unchanged.

BIG SPEECHES TO BE MADE

The H. H. Loving murder trial is now in full swing at the county court house. Thus far there is no material variation in the evidence given now and that given at the preliminary trial.

One thing looked forward to eagerly is the speech by Congressman Ollie James, for the defense, and of Judge
R. T. Lightfoot for the prosecution.
Both are expected to be unusually brilliant and ambitious efforts, and not only the bar, but the public in general as well are already manifesting no little interest in them. The court house will doubtless not hold the people on the day the speeches are made.

The family of the defendant, Mr.
Loving, occupy seats inside the railing near the right of the man on trial for his life.

The jury impaneled to try the case is as follows: J. W. Bean, S. B. Pryor, H. C. D. Howard, J. E. Carter, D.
W. Whitis, G. Nicholson, T. F. Herring, C. W. Duncan, G. W. Walker, H. C. Hartley, J. H. Carneal, Jr., and
J. W. Hall. Mr. Bean resides on N.
13th street; S. B. Pryor formerly conducted a wagon yard opposite the gas plant on North Third, and also formerly kept a boarding house; H.
C. D. Howard is an ex-justice of the peace of the Clark's river section; D.
W. Whitis works in the woodworking department of the Illinois Central and lives on Tennessee street; G.
Nicholson and T. F. Herring are carpenters, the latter living on Clements street in Mechanicsburg; G.
W. Walker is a farmer of the Grahamville section; H. C. Hartley is an ex-justice of the peace of Grahamville; J. H. Carneal, Jr., is a farmer of Grahamsville; J. W. Hall is a life insurance man formerly a motorman.

The commonwealth closed its evidence this afternoon at 2 o'clock.
About 10 witnesses were heard.
Among them were Charles Crow and Bookkeeper Gilbert and V. J. Blow, who were in the office or had been prior to the killing.

The evidence was about the same in each instance as at the preliminary trial except that Mr. Blow's was stronger for the defendant.
Dr. Victor Voris testified that he met Loving in the hall a few seconds after the shooting and asked him why he killed Rose. His reply was that Rose had "been bull-ragging" him and threatening him and he went home, got his pistol and killed him.

Mrs. Lula Gibson stated she met Loving at Sixth and Broadway. He held a pistol and muttered, seeming to ignore her and others on the street, as he went, "damn him, I will get even with him or with his
him."

At press time the defendant was on the stand. He testified the same as he did in police court as far as his evidence had been heard.

Little kindnesses come back to us full grown.

WILL GERMANY TRY TO TEST DOCTRINE?

Seizes a German Subject by Force in Brazil.

Brazilian War Vessels Will Interfere —Reported It Is to Be Test of "Monroe Doctrine."

GERMANY IS INDIFFERENT.

Rio de Janeiro, Dec. 12.—Three Brazilian war vessels hover near the German gunboat Panther, maintaining a silent watch ready to seize the gunboat should it attempt to steam away without liberating the man seized at Itajahy.

Not Alarmed.

Berlin, Dec. 12.—The German government, it is reported, does not seemingly attach any political significance to the Panther incident.

Serious Aspects of Case.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.—If the commander of the German gun-boat Panther insists in holding Steinhoffer, who was captured in a hotel at Itajahy, Santa Catharina, because it was said he evaded military duty in Germany, the Brazilian men-of-war will demand the absolute surrender of the Panther.

Even should the man be released now Brazil will demand of the German Emperor a condemnation of his seizure and treatment.

Brazil's chief feeling of resentment at the action of the Panther is because it might hurt German immigration to Brazil. In view of this fact Brazil will seek full redress and explanation from Germany.

A cable from London states that the Panther incident was intended purposely as an act to test the practical application of President Roosevelt's pronouncement upon the Monroe doctrine. The London cable reports that there should be an immediate explanation to clear away a feeling that Germany has designs on South America.

It is said that even if Steinhoffer had been a deserter from the Panther the commander of that vessel would have had no right to land marines and seize him without formal application to the Brazilian authorities for his surrender.

On the other hand, Germany has always insisted that if one of her subjects should leave the country to escape military service it becomes an offense which may be punished at any time and anywhere the deserter falls into the hands of the German authorities.

There are more than 250,000 Germans in Brazil. Hence Brazil fears that if she does not protest vigorously against this instance Germany might infringe on Brazilian territory in the future.

The United States government looks seriously upon the affair. If it leads to war, it would seem that this government would be compelled to intervene.

PADUCAH MAY CEASE TO BE A CUSTOMS COL- LECTION PORT.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 12.
—Should congress follow Secretary Shaw's recommendation Paducah, Ky., will soon cease to be a customs collection port.

During the last fiscal year cost $450 to maintain the office and not a dollar of receipts came in.

There are fifty-one ports of entry which cost the government more to maintain than they bring in, their aggregate receipts last year being $47,000 and their expenses $156,000.

Theatrical Notes

The Buster Brown company left this morning for Fulton via Cairo to show tonight.

The Buster Brown company played matinee and night here yesterday.
It is a small company of its kind but the music is good and the chorus very lively. The voices are above the average road opera company and the patrons of The Kentucky were pleased with the show in every respect.

A good rural comedy drama is Chas. L. Davis' "Alvin Joslin," which will be the attraction at the Kentucky theater on Saturday matinee and night. This play needs no introduction as it is famous from the Atlantic to the Pacific. It holds its place in the hearts of the people on account of its merits. It pleases all classes of playgoers. It amuses, as well as instructs and furnishes an entertaining entertainment.

New York Herald, July 6: The costumes intended for Miss Rosalie Sheldon and the other lady members of "The Paraders" company were seized by Chief of Treasury Agents Heron this morning and are piled up in the seizure room of the custom house. Manager Davis called at the custom house this afternoon and held a conference with Collector Erhardt and Chief Heron. The costumes were valued at $10,000, and the average duty on them would be nearly 50 per cent. It is probable, however, that they will be allowed to pass free of duty. They should have been entered at Paris as "tools of trade" and it was through a blunder on the other side that they were not. "The Paraders" will be the attraction at The Kentucky tonight.

An attraction of considerable importance is announced by the management of the Kentucky theater, on Wednesday night, to take place when Jane Corcoran appears at the above theater in Frances Aymar Mathews' play of "Pretty Peggy." Miss Corcoran's admirers have noticed with satisfaction the remarkable success she has met with during the past three years in which she has been a star and will gladly welcome her return in the character of Peg Woffington in her new play. The play opens with a scene in an old time circus tent, such as those from which sprang the big circuses of the day; the action takes one through the theatres of a century back and shows behind the scenes where the loveliness and the heartbreaking jeal-ousies and all other human emotions life has contained since the garden of Eden. "Pretty Peggy" is the name that Miss Corcoran is known by in the play and rightly named is the little star, a dainty miss with a w'n-some face pretty and conveying a world of expression, a voice clear and used understandingly; she glides along through the play with dramatic easiness in a way to gain for her the admiration of the most critical.

The nob scene in the last act when the velvet clad and white-winged multitude rushes down the aisles of the theatre shouting and hissing their disapproval of the scene on the stage, is sensational enough to satisfy the most chronic craver for novelty.

CAIRO BOY

Has Legs Crushed Off and Dies
From Injuries.

Cairo, Ill., Dec. 12.—William, son of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Mahoney, of this city, had both legs badly crushed in the C. and E. I. yards at Thebes from the effects of which he died.

The deceased was about 23 years of age and was chief yard clerk of the road where he met with the accident which cost him his life.

The decedent is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Mahoney, two brothers, Dennis and Thomas, the latter having recently had his right foot cut off by a Big Four excursion train, two sisters, Mrs. Richard Powers and Miss Katherine Mahoney.

The latter, as ascertained, met with the accident while taking number of a freight car, a switch engine "kicking" it down on him before he could get out of the road.

Monthly Teachers' Meeting.

Friday afternoon the regular monthly teachers' meeting will be held at the High school. The meeting will be

NOT APPARENT TO THE SCHOOL BOARD

Why Reports Should Be Made to Council.

Paducah Board to Enlist Aid From Other Second Class City Boards in Fighting It.

NO REPORT IS NECESSARY

Dr. W. H. Pitcher, secretary of the school board is authority for the statement that the proposed charter amendment relative to monthly reports from the schools to the legislative boards in cities of the second class, does not suit local educators, and that the Paducah board will unite with other educational boards in other cities to fight the proposed amendment.

"I can see no reason why the schools should report to the legislative boards," he declared. "It seems to me to be a political move—something with politics as a basis to build upon, and I shall write to other boards in second class cities and attempt to have them unite and fight the measure."

"I fail to see any benefit in reporting monthly to the legislative boards. The schools are run by a board separate and apart from the city and there is no possible reason in my mind why the school board should be made to report to the other city boards."

Dr. Pitcher will write at once to Covington, Newport and Lexington and urge the school boards there to take steps towards preventing the amendment from going through the legislature.

There is no more reason, the members of the local board of education allege, why the school board should make a report to the council than that the council should report to the school board. The records of the latter, as the records of the council, are at all times open to public inspection.

Mayor Yeiser when today asked the object in the amendment agreed on, said that all city departments were required to report to the legislative boards, and he did not see why the school board should not. He said that he understood the reason the amendment was agreed on, however, was that the boards in some of the other cities had refused to account for the money they spent, and the general council desired to force them to do it by having an amendment requiring monthly reports.

OUR LAST MOVE

We have now finished moving our stock to 312 Broadway, Van Culin's former stand. As you doubtless know, we were compelled to vacate our building at 408 Broadway, as our lease had expired and the building had been rented.

Everything is being sold at 33 1-3 per cent. off cost prices and you should not delay looking through our stock for desirable Christmas presents. We may sell everything to some jobber almost any time now and then your opportunity will be gone.

We still have a few pieces of handsome china and bric-a-brac, but they won't last long.

Many Visitors Will Enjoy Open Meeting of Paducah Commercial Club Friday

An open meeting of the Commercial club will be held Friday night at The Kentucky theatre and everybody is invited to attend. Invitations have been extended to the city officials and Commercial club at Metropolis and they have accepted. They will come up on the Geo. H. Cowling and bring a big crowd with them.

This promises to be a memorable occasion in boosting the commercial advantages of Paducah. Several good speakers have promised to take part and there will also be music.

This will be the second open meeting held by the club. The first was a success. The fruits of the efforts of the Commercial club are now beginning to come and in the near future many good substantial enterprises will surely be located in this city that will give employment to a large number of people. Ladies are invited as well as gentlemen.

IMPORTANT ISSUE IN FEDERAL COURT

Telegraph and Telephone Companies Object to License.

Case From Lexington Will Affect Every City and Town in the State of Kentucky.

ARGUMENT TO BE HEARD TODAY

Lexington, Ky., Dec. 12.—City Solicitor W. Rogers Clay has received notice that Judge Cochran, of the United States court for the Eastern district of Kentucky, will today hear arguments on the motion filed by the Western Union Telegraph company, asking that the case of the city of Lexington against the Western Union be transferred to the United States court.

The issue brought up in this case is a very important one to Kentucky cities and to corporations in the state, and has never been raised before.

In May, the general council of Lexington adopted an ordinance imposing a license tax of $250 on the telegraph, telephone and express companies upon business actually transacted in the city, purely of a local character, distinctly specifying that the tax was not on business done between Lexington and other points.

The Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies, East Tennessee and Fayette Home Telephone companies, and the Adams and Southern Express companies, which were the six corporations involved, refused to pay the tax, and suit was filed by the city in the Fayette circuit court. On Saturday, the Western Union company, through its attorneys Richards & Quarles, of Louisville, filed a petition before Judge Cochran, of the United States court, asking that the case be removed to that court, on the ground that the Western Union was incorporated in New York, and not in Kentucky.

As all of the other companies, with the possible exception of the Southern Express company, are incorporated in other states, the decision of Judge Cochran will involve all. The defendants will fight the issue raised by this city bitterly, as the triumph of Lexington's contention would mean that every city and town in the state could impose a similar license tax.

Civil Service Examinations.

Civil service examinations will be held January 3-4 in Louisville, Lexington and Paducah to secure eligibles from which to make certification to fill a vacancy in the position of assistant inspector of boilers and steam vessel, at $1,800 per annum, in the steamboat inspection service at New Orleans, and other vacancies as they may occur.

At the same places and on the same dates examinations will be held to secure eligibles for the position of topographic draftsman in the post-office department, and to fill vacancies as they may occur.

A RUSHING

BUSINESS IS BEING DONE ON THE NEW I. C. DIVISION.

It Has Its Effect On Paducah, Many Additional Cars Are Coming Here.

The Nashville division of the I. C. is a busy one and will require the strictest attention from the officials who are working incessantly keeping the business running smoothly.

There are dozens of trains running on this division between Evansville and Nashville and the effects of the acquisition of a portion of the Tennessee Central which makes part of the Nashville division, is felt here.

In the Paducah depot yards a switch engine is kept at work every morning from 7 to 10 o'clock making up and putting away trains. Formerly it required but a few minutes to do this work, but since the Nashville division was created and more trains run into the city and the schedules changed, the necessity of an engine at the depot has been felt more.

Mr. H. McCourt, superintendent of southern lines of the I. C., passed through the city last night en route to the Tennessee Central district to look after the business. Master Mechanic R. J. Turnbull intended going but was detained on other business. The officials generally are looking after the Nashville division and it is predicted it will shortly be one of the most important divisions on the system.

WENT FINE.

Mr. Herbert Wallerstein's New Song Will Be Kept in "Buster Brown."

Musical Director Lloyd Moore of the "Buster Brown" company, was so pleased with Mr. Herbert Wallerstein's new song, "Mister Moon," that he announced last night that he would adopt it permanently in the Buster Brown repertoire.

The song was sung at both performances in Paducah yesterday by Miss Emay Alton, who played the part of Mrs. Brown, Buster's mother. She sang it well, particularly at night when she received three encores. On account of the shortness of time, the chorus could not be used here, but will be in subsequent performances. The audiences liked the song, and so do the members of the company, and after the performance last night they were all singing and humming it behind the scenes.

Miss Alton is a talented young singer, and for six months had the principal role in "Louisiana," at the Odeon, St. Louis, during the world's fair. She is daughter of a wealthy Chicago brewer, and is on the stage because she is ambitious and likes life behind the footlights.

Musical Director Moore was formerly with the Isle of Spice, and says Mr. Wallerstein has a future in song writing, if those he has already written are any indication.

HAPPY INDEED

Is Happy Hooligan, the Popular Patrol Wagon Driver.

Patrol Driver John Austin, known about the city hall as "Happy Hooligan," has emerged from his state of dejection and is now wearing the "smile that won't come off."

The reason for his gladness is that last night he was elected for another year, and because of the opening of Kentucky avenue which makes it possible for him to use the patrol wagon again. The patrol wagon was repainted and repaired several weeks ago. The wagon could not be used on account of the street being rebuilt and a small spring wagon was brought into service as the patrol wagon.

No bell was provided for the temporary patrol wagon and it went through the streets as soberly as other ordinary wagons. There was no bell for Officer Austin to jingle, but this morning he had the patrol wagon out for the first time in weeks, jingling the bell to his heart's content. He is making up for lost time and "Happy" and his wagon will be a welcome sight hereafter. That is to those who do not have to ride in the wagon.

DICK TOLBERT RESIGNS.

Will Return From Tennessee River Bridge to Paducah.

Mr. Dick Tolbert who is stationed at the new I. C. Tennessee river bridge as an interlocking mechanic, has resigned his position, and will probably return to the city.

Mr. Tolbert was formerly day watchman in the local I. C. shop yards, and resigned several months ago to accept the job at the bridge. He did not like the position as much as he thought he would and resigned. He will probably go into the police business again in the service of the road, his record as such an officer having been excellent.

Selecting Regie Goods.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Dec. 12.—The samples he'd by the Farmers' association are being gone over and examined in order to select the heads going to the Regie buyers under the sale made several days ago of 5,000 hogheads. The work is being done by Charles F. Jarrett and J. T. Edwards, representing the association, and E. R. Tandy and T. B. Fairleigh, representing the Regie buyers. It is expected that the work will be completed in time for the farmers to get their money by Christmas.

BROKEN SAW

Injures H. Wallace at the New Basket and Box Factory.

H. Wallace, white, an employee of the new box and basket factory on Caldwell street extended, met with a painful accident yesterday afternoon at the plant.

He was working near a big band saw which broke while going at a rapid rate of speed. The blade struck Wallace in the back of the head, but fortunately it was the back of the blade and not the teeth. A four-inch gash was cut in the scalp. Dr. J. D. Robertson was called and dressed the injury.

Daily Thought.

The only luck that plays any great part in a man's life is that which inheres in a stout heart, a willing hand and an alert brain.—Success.

THE SCHOOLS NEGLECTED.

The public schools do not appear to be given the recognition they deserve in Kentucky. It is not apparent what valid objection there could be to making the maximum tax levy for the schools in second class cities 50 cents, instead of 35, in order that those cities in which the schools need that much money may get it, but it seems the representatives in second class cities did not agree to it at their recent conference.

It is not reasonable to presume that the members of educational boards desire to be, or would be, extravagant. Their official acts are open to public inspection, and it is very easy to determine where good management stops and extravagance begins, hence any tendency towards extravagance, and the consequent demand for more money than is needed, could be very easily detected and prevented.

The law provides that boards of education shall make their estimates of the amount of money needed to run the schools, at a certain time, and submit it, minus the amount to be received from the state, to the legislative boards. The latter figure the approximated expenses into their annual budget, and make a levy sufficient to raise it—not exceeding 35 cents on the $100. If the estimated expenses of the schools are so large that 35 cents on the $100 on the city's assessment will not raise it, the schools simply have to do without, as the total tax rate cannot be over $1.85 in second class cities.

The estimates for the schools are always subject to investigation and discussion when presented to the legislative boards, and if the members of the latter know anything about the schools, they will know whether or not the demands are exorbitant. If they don't know anything about the schools, they should not question the estimates of those who do, and there should be some way to require them to provide the funds. Under the second class charter this cannot be done if the amount needed is more than 35 cents on the $100 will raise.

What Paducah wants is an amendment that will enable the schools to get 50 cents on the $100, if that much is necessary to maintain a good public school system. There is no necessity for providing for a larger tax rate than the present $1.85 to do it. A 50 cent levy would still leave $1.35 for city purposes. If there must be retrenchment let it be in the city government, not in the maintenance of the public schools. Thousands of dollars are wasted annually by the city. This money could be given to the schools and no one would be the worse for it, while the whole community would get the benefit of it through an improved school system.

As it now stands, the charter simply gives the city 15 cents on the $100 more to throw away than it might have, if the charter were so changed as to fix the school levy maximum at 50 cents.

The desire is simply to transfer this 15 cents to the schools, if it is necessary, and force the city to economize.

It is not known how strong an effort was made to have the other three second class cities agree to such a change in the charter, but the change was not agreed to, at any rate. The board of education of Paducah should now enlist the assistance of members of the legislature, and make an effort to secure the amendment without an agreement among the second class cities.

If this fails, the Paducah schools, already unable to obtain money enough to defray necessary expenses, will be in a bad way indeed for the next two years at least, as the legislature meets only once every two years and this is the only chance the city will have for relief in two years.

The Chinese and Americans of China have conferred by representative and agreed on plans by which it is hoped to end the Chinese boycott. A modification of the exclusion law was agreed to, but it will make little material change in the existing law, except that the government must be more courteous to Chinese merchants and dignitaries, who seem in the past to have been subjected to many annoyances when coming to this country on business or for pleasure. The Chinese do not appear to have been unreasonable in their view of the way some of their race are treated in America, and doubtless a little courtesy towards the better class will not be amiss.

In Secretary Hitchcock the land fraud operators seem to have found a man who is not only unafraid, but is anxious as well to send them all where they belong.

It begins to look as if the United States senatorial contest is anybody's race. By the time the legislature convenes candidates may be as thick as flies in August.

CIGARS!

The taste of a cigar is affected by its condition as well as the grade of tobacco in it. If it is too dry it has a hot, smarting, tongue-biting taste. If it is too moist, its taste is full of nicotine. Our cigars are kept just right in all kinds of weather. The reason—

NOT A "PATENT MEDICINE."

Scott's Emulsion is not a "patent medicine." It has no secret ingredients. Your doctor can, no doubt, tell you as much about it as we could. We have merely perfected the method of blending the Norwegian cod liver oil, hypophosphites of lime and soda and glycerine. As one grocer will blend coffee better than another so we have succeeded in making Scott's Emulsion a little better than any other cod liver oil preparation. There's no "patent" and the only secret is the secret of knowing how, with the perfected mechanical means at hand to do it. Get Scott's and you get the perfect emulsion. It's the greatest thing in the world for regaining strength and flesh lost through wasting.

STREET WORK

WILL TAKE UP TIME OF BOARD OF WORKS.

South Third Street to Be Accepted—Kentucky Avenue Is Now In Use.

The board of public works will meet tomorrow afternoon in regular session and will take up the matter of accepting South Third street.

The street was inspected last week but several defects were found. The defects are slight and amount to little, and the board has informally decided to accept the street and let the contractor make repairs in the spring.

The estimates for this work have been nearly completed and some have been collected. They will be furnished as soon as possible to the contractor.

The work on Kentucky avenue which was finished this week, will be inspected probably tomorrow before the board meets. The street is now in use.

The board will devote the remainder of the meeting to routine work, such as reports from departments, etc.

THREE DROWNED

In the Towboat Accident Near Cannelton, Ind., Saturday.

The first report sent out about the great loss of coal at Cannelton, Ind., Saturday night, was that no lives were lost, but since then a special is sent out from Hawesville, Ky., that three lives were lost and possibly more. The names of the victims are not known.

The Harry Brown, which lost all of her tow but two barges, joined the W. W. O'Neil, which passed here last Saturday with empties, and proceeded back to get another tow.

It is said owing to the rapid rise lately in the Mississippi river the Sprague had all she could get up the river and was coming so slowly that for this reason the Pacific was sent out from Cairo to relieve her of a part of the tow.

FOUR BEAR

KILLED BY MR. GEORGE ROBERTSON, WHO HAS RETURNED.

Had Fine Sport and Killed a Great Deal of Smaller Game On His Expedition.

Mr. George Robertson returned this morning from his annual bear hunt in Arkansas and reports one of the most enjoyable times he ever had.

While there he killed four large bears. There were about twelve in the party, but he was the only Paducah man. They had 38 hounds and lost but eight, but several of the dogs were badly cut up in the fights. Mr. Robertson did not hunt deer, for he said there was no use to kill them as the law of that state did not permit the meat to be sold or given away. It is the same regarding other game but the bear skins he was allowed to bring home. He has four fine ones and will make them into rugs or overcoats. They make the warmest overcoat known. He also brought home some very large persimmons. They are similar to the persimmons grown here but are about the size of a large pear. Mr. Robertson said that they are fed to hogs and when corn crops are short they are fed to negroes. These persimmons are cultivated. Col. Jack Goodwin, a warm friend of Mr. Robertson, has an immense orchard of the fruit, some of which is shipped to the cities and sold.

This was not Mr. Robertson's banner hunt. In 1886 he and John T. Moore killed 32 bear. They camped back of Old Town, and did their killing on Yellow Bank Brook. They had 40 dogs killed.

This time the party camped on Cypress Brook near Chaney Lake, which is five miles west, where there are lots of deer. Cypress Brook is 2½ miles south of Gosley Lake, where they did all of their fishing. One Sunday Mr. Robertson with an artificial minnow caught 35 black bass weighing from 2½ to 3½ pounds each, commencing at 9 a. m. and finishing late in the afternoon. This lake also contains striped bass and crocodiles.

After the party had been in camp five days they had wild game on the table for every meal. Thanksgiving there was a big feast, the bill of fare consisting of fish, bear, deer, squirrel, wild turkey and side dishes.

"BUSTER" WAS LATE

And the Train Had to Be Held for Him Ten Minutes.

"Jimmy" Rosen, the midgit comedian who played "Buster Brown" here yesterday, slept late this morning. When the train was ready to pull out at 9:30 there was no Jimmy in sight. The remainder of the company was at the train waiting to leave for Fulton and when the time for shouting "all aboard" arrived there was nothing else to do except hold the train for "Buster Brown."

A hasty telephone message disclosed the fact that he had left the hotel and many eager glances were directed down the street as the impatient train crew hurried about and said significant things in an undertone.

Presently "Buster's" conveyance hove in sight. Buster was the coolest one in the lot but his little legs were too short for him to get along fast enough so members of the company hastened to him, seized him on each side, ran rapidly to the train and deposited him on the platform. The 28-year-old comedian, who weighs about 50 pounds, did not seem to resent it a bit.

In fact, he had succeeded in holding the train ten minutes, which many a larger man has failed to do.

THE EAGLES

Will Re-equip the Y. M. C. A. Gymnasium and Organize Athletic Classes.

The local Aerie of Eagles is growing rapidly, and is also becoming one of the most progressive organizations in Paducah. It recently leased the Rieke building at Sixth and Broadway, formerly occupied by the Y. M. C. A., and has now decided to equip the gymnasium in the modern style, and employ an instructor for the classes to be organized.

The gymnasium will also be so equipped that entertainments of various descriptions may be given in it, and will be rented out when needed.

Why Buy McClure's?

McClure's Magazine is bought and read in homes not because it is a magazine, but because it is the magazine. Why?

FIRST—THE PRICE. It costs but one dollar a year, or less than ten cents a number, for over thirteen hundred two-column pages of reading matter. This amounts in actual bulk to twenty-five books costing anywhere from one dollar to two dollars a volume.

SECOND—QUALITY. The reading matter is written by America's leading writers—the best short story writers, the best writers on timely articles, the best writers of important serials, such as Schurz's Reminiscences or Baker's Railroad articles.

THIRD—TIMELINESS. The reading matter in McClure's is not only good; it is not only entertaining, amusing, instructive and inspiring—it is also about the subjects in which you and all Americans are most interested at the time. No subjects in the next twelve months are going to be so important as the question of railroad rates and rebates and the question of life insurance. Both of these questions will be discussed by authorities in an impartial, careful, interesting way.

FOURTH—ITS CHARACTER. McClure's Magazine is not edited for children, but at the same time there is never a line in it that any young girl might not read. Its advertising pages are as clean as its editorial pages.

McClure's Magazine

In your home is intended to work only for good. Send $1.00 today for one year's subscription, or leave an order at your book store. November and December free with new subscriptions for 1906.

S. S. MCCLURE COMPANY, 47 East 23d Street, NEW YORK.

You can earn a good income by taking up the business of securing subscribers for McClure's. It is clean and self-respecting—a publication any man or woman would like to represent. The pay is 25 cents for each $1.00 subscription, in addition to big cash prizes for the best work. Write today for full particulars.

Matinee Musical Club's Fielitz Afternoon.

The regular meetings of the matinee musical club will be held hereafter in the Eagle parlors, the former Y. M. C. A. building, at Broadway and Sixth street. The club had two places, the Eagle club rooms and the Grace Episcopal parish house under consideration, but decided on accepting the Eagles' offer yesterday instead of the latter, as being the most advantageous to the club.

The next meeting of the club will be held on Wednesday the 20th. The program will begin promptly at 3:30 o'clock. Mrs. Hubbard S. Wells is the leader for the afternoon. The program will be rendered by Mrs. David Flournoy and Mr. Harry Gilbert, and the afternoon will be devoted to the compositions of Alexander von Fleitz, who was a professor at Berlin and the instructor of Mr. Gilbert when he was there, but is now connected with the Chicago Musical college.

Mr. Gilbert will play a group of instrumental numbers of the composer, and Mrs. Flournoy will give his song-cycle, "Eidland," of ten songs into which is woven a beautiful and pathetic love story.

LEPROSY INCREASES

Among the Chinese Although Efforts Are Being Made to Stop It.

Canton, Dec. 1.—It is believed that leprosy is increasing in China, despite the reports of the Chinese government that it is being stamped out by degrees. The statement is made that the reason the government is so industriously circulating reports that the dread disease is being rapidly extinguished is found in the fact that leprosy among the coolies always has been a powerful argument used against Chinese immigration to the United States and other civilized countries.

About 60,000 lepers are known to be congregated in the villages surrounding Canton alone, and it is stated that Rev. Father Conrady, who assisted Father Damien among the lepers at Mo'okai, one of the Sandwich Islands, spends settling near that city. In the latter village of Fat Fung Yun, six miles east of Canton, where Father Conrady probably will start work, there are over 1,000 lepers. Although the local government provides about 600 of these lepers with a small amount daily from a fund practically all are compelled to beg for their food and clothes. To do this they are allowed to go to Canton, where they are often seen wandering over the same roads as other people and jostling in the crowds.

Louis Brownlow, of Paducah, Sah!

(Louisville Herald.)

Louis Brownlow had the floor at an experience meeting of the Washington correspondents. This is what he is reported to have told his fellow-workers:

"For experience trying, and strenuous I'm plum sartin' on to the grand prize," he declared. "When I left here last spring I went me down to Paducah, Ky., where I ran a reform paper. Running a reform paper isn't so much a part of the simple life as it might be. I was only shot at once. Once they tried to kill me in the city hall without the aid of a revolver, which was some disconcerting, not to say contemptuous and insulting. I've been sued for libel to the tune of $55,000, and the last I heard was that the grand jury was considering the advisability of indicting me some for criminal libel, also.

"As an offset to all this I can point with pride to having closed the saloons on Sundays. I had two bottles of good whiskey in my satchel."

ALL RE-ELECTED BY COMMISSIONERS

No Changes in the Fire and Police Departments.

Commissioners Hold Harmonious Meeting and Fix Salaries and Choose the Men.

ADOPT STRICT RESOLUTION.

The members of the police and fire departments were all re-elected last night for another year by the fire and police commissioners, all of whom were present at the regular meeting of the board.

These are:
Chief of Police James Collins.
Captain of Police, Frank Harlan.
Lieutenant of Police, Tom J. Potter.

Plain clothes detectives, T. J. Moore and William Baker. Patrol wagon driver, John Austin. The salaries are: Chief, $100, captain $75, lieutenant $70, patrolmen $60, plain clothes men, $60.

The election of members of the fire department resulted as follows:
Chief James Wood.

Central department on North Fourth—Jo. Collins, captain; while the stationmen are Ingram, Hamilton, Bailey, and Madison Hall, Howell and Davis.

Department No. 2, at Fourth and Elm—Thomas Glynn, captain; Len Cochran, Charles McKinney and Henry Robinson, stationmen.

Department No. 3, at Tenth and Clay—John Slaughter, captain; No. 4 Engle, Tom King, William Walters and Sydney Gilbert.

Department No. 4, at Tenth and Jones—Jake Elliott, captain; Harvey Allen, William Sheehan, Tom Moore, Fred Menzer, Charles Eiler and Joe Green, stationmen.

The salaries are: Chief, $100, captain $75, stationmen, $60.

The commissioners adopted a resolution that patrolmen must not take a drink of anything intoxicating while on duty, and must also refrain from using profanity about the city.

Drunkness on or off duty will merit immediate dismissal. The commissioners also decided that the police officers must keep their uniforms brushed and their shoes shined, a duty in which some of them are alleged to have become delinquent lately.

Chief of Police James Collins received the vote of all four of the commissioners, his election being unanimous.

Sold the Engine.

Mr. W. C. Raddatz, of St. Paul, Minn., passed through the city this morning en route home after selling the Joppa council a gasoline fire engine. The engine was tested last week and proved successful. The test of the Joppa engine was witnessed by Chief Wood, and Fire and Police Commissioners Mann Clark and Jesse Gilbert.

FORMER PADUCAHAN

IS TO ESTABLISH A SUBURB TO LOUISVILLE.

I. W. Bernheim, to Spend $50,000 Improving Anchorage in the Next Few Months.

The Courier-Journal of yesterday gives the following facts in regard to a modern suburb. Mr. I. W. Bernheim, formerly of Paducah, is to establish at Anchorage, 12 miles from Louisville:

Anchorage is to be transformed from a village of magnificent possibilities into a model, modern suburb, according to the enterprise now being set on foot by I. W. Bernheim, who has acquired forty acres in the heart of the village and will spend $50,000 in the next four months improving the property and carrying out a scheme of development outlined by Fred Olmsted, of Brookline, Mass., the famous park engineer.

Mr. Bernheim's present plan contemplates the division of the tract into residence lots, containing one and one-half acres, with necessary streets. He will then erect two model suburban houses, and surround them with all the shrubbery and appointments incidental to the complete realization of Mr. Olmsted's idea of what a suburban village home should be.

The scheme of development is new to Louisville, and Mr. Bernheim, who has closely followed the advice of Mr. Olmsted throughout, said yesterday that Anchorage can be made one of the most beautiful suburban residence towns in the country. The land he purchased is unimproved.

"It is a cherished plan of mine," said Mr. Bernheim, "and it is not with an eye single to the profits of the enterprise that I have engaged in it."

"A modern suburban village for the man of ordinary means is my object. The model houses I will erect will be frame, and will cost from $6,500 to $7,500. I will start work at once, and by spring I hope to have the tract laid out in lots."

GOOD SHOWINGS

Made By All Kentucky State Institutions, Says Judge Hines.

Judge Henry B. Hines is preparing his report as state inspector, in which he will detail the work of the year at the penal and eleemosynary institutions of Kentucky, and report whether they have expended their appropriations judiciously.

He says that he has found nothing wrong anywhere, and that his report, which will be turned over to the governor, and then read to the general assembly, will have only commendation to bestow. Judge Hines calls special attention to the state institution for the blind, located in Louisville, and declares that it is one of the most efficient and best conducted in the country. The Kentucky school for the deaf at Danville also comes in for a share of unstinted praise. This school has recently erected several large buildings and, with an enrollment of over 500 and an excellent faculty, takes high rank.

Washington, Dec. 12.—The first important measure which will receive the attention of the senate will be the Panama canal emergency appropriation bill, and its consideration will begin this week. Some senators predict that it will become a law before the close of the week, but others have expressed the opinion that final action will be deferred until the week following. There will be no effort to prevent the passage of the bill in some shape, but there will be some opposition to the proposed restoration of the $5,500,000 subtracted by the house from the amount to be appropriated. The consideration by the senate of the joint statehood bill and the bill for the reduction of duty on Philippine importations into the United States will necessarily be postponed until after the holidays.

With the long session ahead, no important results are expected in the house until after the holiday recess. The appropriation committees will first consider either the legislative or the District of Columbia appropriation bill. That there will be no lack of legislative propositions is indicated by the 5963 bills which have already been introduced in the house. Leaders are disposed to expedite consideration of the Philippine tariff bill, and hearings will undoubtedly begin so soon as the ways and means committee has organized.

CHAPTER I.

It was in August of the year 188— that I turned the corner, as it were, into the strange history I am now to relate. The Welsh marches had been entirely unknown to me until at a point in an idle tour of the west of England I fell upon the little town of Raymond and brought up at 7 in the evening at the Swan hotel, which occupies a corner of the irregular triangle constituting the market place. The country in that part is full of swelling hills and valleys, soft and exhilarating of air and clothed with a great verdure of wood. The great Gwent, as the forest across the little river it is called in the countryside rolls westward across the country, broken by tracts of fertile fields lying under grain and pasture, and descends upon the black hills of the minding district beyond. At Raymond, which stands upon the higher side of the river, we are yet in England proper and upon the margin of a more open country. The town itself is small and neat and wears its air of respectable antiquity very laughingly.

The inn, which was itself among the most venerable buildings in the small town, was comfortably served by a very brisk landlord of middle age. It had kept, so to speak, a precarious continuity with antiquity and in the main scheme had changed but little during the 300 years which had passed since its erection.

The hostelry was much too large for its present uses, but for all that there was no air of neglect in the inhabited chambers. My own rooms were marked by homely comfort, and I was waited upon like a prince of the blood. After a rude and wholesome country dinner I sought distraction in the taproom with my pipe and a heterogeneous company of townfolk. The landlord was in some kind a president at this symposium, which consisted for the main part of a few of the smaller shopkeepers. There was Mr. Jones, for example, whose name I had noticed upon a shop front as I rode through the High street. This man fixed upon me early in the evening, and poured his confidences into my ear. He was a hay merchant, and he had no dearer ambition than to establish his business in Bristol. He found Raymond too mean for his aspirations, and the Mecca of his prayers was Bristol. I confess that I found him something of a bore, and was glad to exchange commonplaces with my other neighbor. The landlord himself kept his seat before the long table, smoking his long pipe with the peace of a man whose business is ended for the day, and now and then discharging a glance in my direction. He was, I discovered, a traveled man for those parts, and had the reputation of a smart fellow. Indeed, he compared well with the duller rustics who surrounded him. The placid air of the taproom was in some ways little more diverting than the solitude of my chamber, but that was soon to pass. Presently there came a great noise, followed by a heavy tramp of feet approaching from the outer bar, and in strutted a tall young fellow, with his hat upon one side, and a jaunty air of one who knows his own worth and dispenses his neighbors.

"Come in," says the innkeeper, very friendly, but with a certain air of constraint. "Plenty of room, Mr. Montgomery, sir, and a good evening to you."

"Oh, hang your ceremonies," says the newcomer, but with no touch of ill humor, "and give your best attention to my order, Wendover!" And, clapping his hat more firmly on his head, he rapped loudly upon the table.

He drank the glass of whisky which the barman served and then fell into a he inquired.

The youth turned his eyes upon him in a lackluster gaze and then, emptying his glass, hammered on the table noisily.

"Why the deuce don't that man of yours come?" he exclaimed. "Here have I ridden in ten miles for the sight of a human face and the taste of good Scotch, and— That's right." He gave his order and, observing Wendover again, gave vent to a heavy laugh.

"What do you expect to happen in the Gwent?" he asked. "It's as dull as ditch water."

"I don't know so much about that," put in suddenly a man on the other side of the room whom, from his general air, I took to be a miller. "There's something as I heard of lately that was pretty exciting."

The spokesman drew all eyes upon him. The surface of his deep countenance stirred and ruffled.

"What's that, Mr. Llewellyn?" asked the innkeeper.

Montgomery looked incredulous. "Pooh!" he said disdainfully.

The miller enjoyed the importance and seemed inclined to prolong it. He leisurely refilled his pipe.

"I heard something queer happened at the castle last week," he said at last, seeing that his news must out.

"What's that?" asked Montgomery.

"A girl that was in service there told my missus," went on the miller. "We have taken her in. She's left the castle."

"What did she say?" asked Wendover.

"I don't exactly recall the right of it," the miller confessed, with a hasty sense of shame. Montgomery looked at me and, seeing a smile in my eye, burst out laughing. "But I know it was about a burglary," said the miller promptly and with courage.

"I'd like to hear about the burglary," said one.

"The man that keeps the inn there— what's that inn?" went on the miller.

"The Woodman," answered Montgomery.

"Aye, that's it. He was servant to the castle—the girl said—and he caught them."

"Caught whom?" said Montgomery impatiently.

"Well, he didn't catch them," admitted the miller, "but he frightened them off. They were after the plate that the old gentleman keeps, so the man told my girl."

"He's a queer old customer," interposed one of the company, seeing, as we all saw, that we should get no further interest out of the miller. Our attention broke up.

"You're right," nodded his vis-a-vis and replaced his pipe in his mouth.

"May I ask what castle you are speaking of?" I ventured to say, addressing the miller.

"Oh, hang your ceremonies," says the newcomer, but with no touch of ill humor, "and give your best attention to my order, Wendover!" And, clapping his hat more firmly on his head, he rapped loudly upon the table.

A FAMOUS REMEDY

"I cured my cough with German Syrup!"
He wrote to Dr. G. G. Green:
"As true as I tell you, doctor dear, I'm feeling finer than ever I've been!"

The poor sufferer should not be the victim of experiment, as he often is, but the moment the dread disease manifests its presence he should be given Bosc's German Syrup—a pure, non-alcoholic medicine that is made specially for the cure of consumption, and has a worldwide fame as a certain remedy for catarrhs, colds, coughs, croup, sore throat and all bronchial affections in old and young. It is sold in all civilized countries, and has been famous as a consumption cure for almost half a century.

Trial bottle, 25c. Big bottle, 75c. At all druggists throughout the world.

"Ivor castle, sir," said he civilly.

"It lays in the Gwent, sir, back of the hills," explained the landlord.

"As you talk of this burglary," said Montgomery, breaking in rather rudely, "I'd like first to know what they were going to find in the castle. Every one knows there's nothing to be got there."

Confronted with this uncivil fellow, the miller came to bay. "I don't know anything about it," he declared. "All I know is that this young woman—she says she was woke up by a noise going on, and then she went to sleep again, putting her head under the blankets, and that the manservant—I can't bring back his name—he told her next day that the thieves had tried to get in."

"Humph!" sneered Montgomery, who had plainly drunk too much to be an easy companion. "I don't call that much of a tale."

"If it's true, it's true," said the mild looking man.

"Who the devil asked your opinion?" retorted the lad brusquely. The mild man shifted in his chair, but mustered courage to ask if a man might not express his sentiments upon a point of general interest.

"That's true," answered Montgomery, with a foolish laugh.

It was clear that he had taken enough to be quarrelsome if the opportunity should rise, and unfortunately he chose to turn his bentering gaze upon my sour and peevish neighbor.

"Well, Mr. Jones," said he, "and how's hay?"

"How's crops, my young gentleman?" says Jones in his surly fashion.

"Crops," said Montgomery in a bawl, "crops is as they should be—seasonable. Here's to crops, gentlemen, and also to hay," and he fell into his chair laughing abominably.

I could not say if this was part of an elaborate jest, conceived by a mandarin brain, or whether he had really been taken with an unreasonable fit of anger; but, whether of accident or of purpose, he filled up his glass forward between his fingers, and the drops flew out and splattered the hay merchant's face.

"Gentlemen!" cried the landlord, in some alarm.

Montgomery stood, his red face somewhat vacant and grinning broadly, while his sallow faced victim, who had got upon his feet, gesticulated and stammered under his nose with a show of passion that was not quite English, and at this moment, when it seemed as if some retaliation was to be expected and a fracas precipitated, an impulse took me, and I myself intervened.

"I think, sir," said I, addressing Montgomery, "you will admit that you have used this worthy gentleman very ill, and if I were you, sir, with your youth and spirit at my back, I would ask his pardon at once."

On that he stared at me for some seconds, and then, plunging the empty glass on the table, he broke into a sheepish laugh.

"All right," he said; "very sorry. I beg his pardon," and muttering some indistinct apologies he resumed his seat, sitting somewhat silent for a good time afterward.

But that was my introduction to the lad, an introduction none too favorable, of which he began at once to make use, for he crept close to me, moving from chair to chair, when a chance served him, and, being emboldened by the liquor he had drunk, struck up a lively conversation with me. In the end he was exceedingly merry, and was shaking me heartily by the hand, and invited me to drive out to his farm in the Gwent with a good deal of unusual warmth and vehemence, but I managed at last to make my escape, and that without giving him offense.

It was yet early, but the taproom had lost its humors for me, and I was for bed. In my room I spent an agreeable hour, idly considering my guide-books and determining a date for my return to town. Upon the map I made out the site of Ivor castle, of which there had been talk, also of Montgomery's farm, which he had described to me. They both lay in the Gwent, and that great reach of forest in the marches is called.

REMEMBER POOR'S CHRISTMAS TREE

The Rev. R. W. Chiles of the Rescue Mission to Have Feast.

The Sun Solicits Its Friends to Assist the Charitable Gentleman.

SEND IN A CONTRIBUTION

The Rev. R. W. Chiles, as has been his custom for a number of years, will give a Christmas tree at the Rescue Mission Christmas week for the benefit of the poor of the city—children and "grown ups."

Mr. Chiles has asked the press of the city to assist him again in the work, as it has always done, and The Sun is pleased at the opportunity to lend its aid.

For several years the readers of The Sun have responded generously and promptly to its call for assistance in what is probably one of the noblest works of charity of the year, and we know they will do so again.

For the convenience of our friends we shall publish the coupon below each day from now till Christmas, and it can be made in making contributions.

It makes no difference what you send, money or toys or clothing or provisions and fuel, anything will come in most happily and will greatly be appreciated. Heretofore, we have suggested that if each family that takes The Sun would send in a dime we would have over $320, a tidy sum with which to bring good cheer to many of the poor of the city.

We are making the same suggestion this year. Let each family in the city and county send us a dime from its Christmas fund and help in a laudable work.

Send a dime, or anything, with the coupon below.

I enclose you a contribution for the Christmas tree for the benefit of the poor children of Paducah.

Coughing Spell Caused Death.

"Harry Duckwell, aged 25 years, choked to death early yesterday morning at his home, in the presence of his wife and child. He contracted a slight cold a few days ago and paid but little attention to it. Yesterday morning he was seized with a fit of coughing which continued for some time. His wife sent for physician but before he could arrive, another coughing spell came on and Duckwell died from suffocation."

Woman Who Held a Railroad Coach For Several Days in Sanitarium.

Tulsa, I. T., Dec. 12.—Mrs. Sallie Barry, the woman who barricaded herself in the Frisco coach at Girard, Kan., was brought to Tulsa and taken to the Tulsa hospital, believing she was going to a hotel. She soon went to sleep and awoke much refreshed. She talked freely to Dr. Wiley, who is treating her for the effects of the ammonia bomb. Her conversation shows that she remembers clearly every detail of her trip from Denver to Tulsa, including the change of cars at Kansas City and the sidetracking she got at Girard. She talks of the details of that 114 hours at Girard with evident amusement, although she says the people there tried to be kind to her. She says there were some, however, she could not trust.

Dr. Wiley finds ground for hoping she may soon be restored to perfect mental balance. Her father, N. G. Bailey, a prosperous farmer, lives about seven miles east of this city.

Heart Fluttering.

INHERITANCE TAX

Is to Be Imposed by the State if Bill Goes Through.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 12.—The senate special committee on revenue and taxation has unanimously agreed upon an inheritance tax. Senator Laban Phelps, who is a member of the committee has been requested by the committee to draw up the provision to impose the inheritance tax. The committee last Saturday afternoon took a recess until Tuesday, December 19, and Senator Phelps was instructed to have his report ready to submit at that time.

The senate committee is composed of J. W. Cammack, George Hickman, Laban Phelps, W. H. Cox and Senator Bowles. Senator Cox is the only republican member of the senate.

The committee has held frequent meetings since the adjournment of the last session of the legislature and has conferred with the commercial bodies of the state in regard to the proposed legislation. The plans so far decided on by the committee, it has been agreed, will not be given out for publication until the committee makes its report to the legislature. When the committee meets again next Tuesday it will remain in session until its complete report is completed.
